

Parenting Coordination Australia

2, 3, 4 March 2023 – In Person Training

Parenting Coordination Australia is offering Australia's leading Parenting Coordination (PC) training program, Sydney 2, 3, 4 March 2023. Our 3 day course will equip participants with the knowledge and skills to engage in one of Family Law's fastest growing disciplines. Course rates for our full, 3 day training $2,850 +GST.

Australian leaders in Parenting Coordination, Anne Purcell & Cassandra Pullos have combined international training and industry experience to design and run Australia's first Parenting Coordination course. Participants will learn leading international practice and gain access to a network of support to assist them in developing their professional practice within Australia.

Upon completion, participants will have the skill, qualification and network to engage in this industry leading practice. We look forward to welcoming you in to the Parenting Coordination family.

Parenting Coordinators are neutral actors who work with high conflict parents in a non-confidential and reportable way to implement parenting orders handed down by a Judge, or fulfill a previously agreed upon parenting plan, often formed through mediation.

As a Parenting Coordinator, you will have the tools to coach parents in healthier conflict resolution techniques, aiding them in resolving the inevitable conflicts that arise when co-parenting, and helping them avoid further Court intervention or the need for ongoing assistance. Whilst assistance is given to parents, the emphasis is placed on children and Parenting Coordinators work to improve long-term parent-child relationships through sustainable communications, conflict resolution and expectation setting techniques.

Cassandra Pullos is a Accredited Family Law Specialist, Parenting Coordinator, Collaborative Family Lawyer and Registered Mediator. Cassandra is one of the first trained Parenting Coordinators in Australia and is excited to share her knowledge and practical expertise in a rapidly growing family law field forward to welcoming you in to the Parenting Coordination family.

Dr Anne Purcell is an Australian leader in Parenting Coordination. She brings her background in education, psychological research and mediation to her expertise in Parenting Coordination, teaching Coordinators the skills they need to be successful in this growing and impactful space.
